The Customs' examiner stationed here saw that the luggage was wrapped in two blankets which looked very like his own and which he had lost during the riot. He called up several coolies and had the Hunan man apprehended, notifying at the same time the steamer patrolling deputy, who made examination on the spot. The man stated that he was a native of Hunan, that he worked on board of a junk in Kuachao, received 1,600 cash a month as pay, and was on his way to his native place. On being asked how he came to have the blankets he first hesitated and then replied that he bought them at Chinking for 900 eash. The deputy discredited this story, knowing that the blankets, which cost a much higher price, could not have been sold to him at such a low figure. On searching his luggige there were found a red flanuel covering, silk clothing, two pairs of foreign trousers, one roll of red foreign crape, one of black foreign craps, one of Tuchow oraps, and one of raw silk. His clothing was also of silk and he had on his person ten Mexican dollars and a package of ginsong. He was to be put on trial before the new magistrate who had just assumed office. The first rain began to fall on the Julynight of the 10th, and with some intermissions more or las fell until the night of the 12th, when the ground was well souked. Since then it has been very dry with increasing heat, and now rain is needed as much as ever apparently. The sun is very powerful, with slight indications that more rain may come soon. While the wheat yield around Tientsin is very poor, reports indicate that for the entire province of Chihli the yield is about up to the average crop. Following in the line of the Imperial edict, Julywe understand that instructions are being issued to the high provincial authorities to the effect that proclamations are to be posted wherever there is a Christian church or chapel, commandthe observance of the Treaty stipulations. It may be that missionaries will be called upon to give information in regard to where they have centres of work, and the nature of that work, which all should be willing to do. It may also be necessary in some cases for the missionary to apply to the Governor of his province in order to secure the posting of such proclamation, but the application is not likely to be refused. There is a remarkable correspondence between the recent riots in the south and the one at Tientsin many years ago. Both found their origin and force in the latent anti-foreign feeling. Both were simed in the first instance against the Romanists, and found their incentive largely in the orphanages. Previous to the Tientain outbreak, similar remours were in circulation here to those that were circulated at the south.

assorkidnapping were not nuknowa about Tientsin, and there was reason to believe that some children had been stolen that spring. Indeed, we have been informed that this spring some such children were found on board one of the out-going steamers, and were sent off to the proper Chinese authorities. Those rumours were not new then, they have been less frequent since that event than previous to it. Is was known, too, that at the orphanege a few cash were given those who brought foundlings to the home. Here was all that a scheming and evil-disposed person needed to create a condition of certitude in the ordinary Chinese mind, having a groundwork of suspicion and superstition on which to operate. How similar to what has occurred in the south! Is there in all this any leason to be learned? The action above referred to indicates a determination on the part of the C Emperor to do all in his power to preserve quiet and prevent the recurrence of such sad events. There is no reason to believe that the mass of the common people have any ill-will towards foreigners: there is evidence that many of them i

A Court of Enquiry was held on the 25th as to the loss of the British barque Perle, Captain Williams. The Court was composed as follows: -Mr. W. S. Ayrton, H.M. Consul, President; Mr. H. E. The finding was to the effect:-" That the British barque Perle grounded at 7 a.m. on 21st June and was abandoned at 8.30 p.m., name day. That though considerable blame is attached to Capt. Williams for not making use of the lead sooner, and for not ascertaining the error in his compasses, the Court do not consider it sufficient reason for withholding his certificate. That he (Capt. Williams) was right in abandoning the ship, and did all that was required under the circumstances. That no blame is attached to the chief officer, boatswain, or crow." IMPERIAL QUARTO, INGLISH AND CHINESE Hongkong, 1st July, 1891. DIC'I'IONARY. WITH THE PUSTI AND MANDARIN PRONUNCIATION. An Anglo-Chinese Dictionary, published at the Dailu Press Office, Hongkong.

For comprehensiveness and practical services thir Work stands unrivalled. All the new words which the Chinese have of late years been compelled to coin to express the numerous objects in machinery, photography, telegraphy, and in science generally, which the rapid advance of foreign relations has imposed upon them, are here given in extenso. Each and every word i fully illustrated and explained, forming exercises for students of a most instructive nature. Both the Court and Punti pronunciations are given the accents being carefully marked on the best principle hitherto attained. The typography displays the success of an attempt to make the Chinese and English type correspond in the size of body, thereby effecting a vast economy of space, achieving a clearness not previously It is re-arranged on a New plan, much more attained, and dispensing with those vast margins and vacant spaces which have heretofore characterized Chinese publications.

> To illustrate the vast scope of the work the following facts are submitted for consideration :— Chalmers' Vocabulary contains about 16,000 Chinese characters, and Medhurst's English and Chinese Dictionary about 100,000, whilst this work contains more than 50,000 English words, and upwards of 600,000 Chinese charactors. Again, despite all the grammars and other elementary works as yet published, the student of this difficult language absolutely requires examples to display the various appli-cations and equivalents of different words which have one general meaning. Of these examples this work contains more than five times as many as any other Dictionary hitheric pub-

For Ipractical purposes the arrangement of the work is so complete, that a reference to its pages enables a person who understands English to communicate effectively with natives who understand nothing but Chinese. In this respect | 353 the work will be found indispensable to all Europeans residing in China, and to the natives themselves it explains subjects fully with which very few indeed of them are perfectly acquainted. lo parties resident in England and interested China it cannot but be invaluable occasion-

It comprises upwards of two thousand large 4. Vols. IMPERIAL QUARTO, Price, $20. A Large REDUCTION in PRICE is made to Purchasers of SIX or more Copies. LONDON:
